DETAILED ACTION

Restriction/Election Requirement

Applicant's response, filed 10/25/06, to the previous Office action, mailed 4/25/06, is acknowledged. The amendment to the claims therein have been entered, but the amendment to the specification is not completely compliant with 37 CFR 1.121(b) because the amendment to the title does not include markings to show changes made.

The amendment to the claims adds new claims 43-61, which necessitates the following species election requirement.

This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species in terms of the nature of the first and the second receptors:

- (A) The first and second receptors are MHC class I and II, as in claim 43;
- (B) The first and second receptors are two chaperones selected from those listed in claims 46-51.

If Species (B) is elected, two specific chaperones must be elected.

The species are independent or distinct because the receptors have distinct structures, properties including chemical and physical attributes, and functions, and thus the method used to isolate ligands bound thereto will involve different reagents and steps correspondingly, and produce different results, i.e. profiles. Searching for each of the species would require searching for the different subject matter and thus the searches for all the species would involve different search fields, and thus would not be coextensive.

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, claim 14 is generic.

This application also contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species in terms of the nature of the chemical and physical attributes of the ligands bound to the receptors :

- (1) The chemical and physical attribute of the ligands is hydrophobicity or charge, as in claim 52 or 57,
- (2) The chemical and physical attribute of the ligands is mass-to-charge ratio, as in claim 53 or 58,
- (3) The chemical and physical attribute of the ligands is amino acid sequence, as in claim 54 or 59, and
- (4) The chemical and physical attribute of the ligands is ion fragmentation patterns, as in claim 55 or 60.

The species are independent or distinct because the different attributes requires different reagents, equipments, etc. for the method for isolating and distinguishing the ligands that bind to the receptors. Searching for each of the species would require searching for the different subject matter and thus the searches for all the species would involve different search fields, and thus would not be coextensive.

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, claim 14 is generic.

Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which depend from or otherwise require all the limitations of an allowable generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

Because these species are independent or distinct for the reasons given above and the inventions require a different field of search (see MPEP § 808.02), restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Shubo (Joe) Zhou, whose telephone number is 571-272-0724. The examiner can normally be reached Monday-Friday from 8 A.M. to 4 P.M. If attempts to reach the examiner by telephone are unsuccessful, the examiner's supervisor, Andrew Wang, can be reached on 571-272-0811.
